

Call for Papers & Participants

13th Mediterranean Interdisciplinary Forum on Social Sciences and Humanities (MIFS 2025)

 May 14-15, 2025 |  University of Catania, Italy

The European Scientific Institute (ESI), in collaboration with the University of Catania's Department of Education, invites scholars, researchers, and professionals to submit papers and participate in MIFS 2025—a premier interdisciplinary forum that brings together leading minds to explore cutting-edge research, innovation, and global academic exchange.

Why You Can't Miss This Conference

- ◆ Exclusive Networking: Connect with renowned scholars from across the Mediterranean and beyond.
- ◆ Cutting-Edge Research: Present and discuss your work with an international, multidisciplinary audience.
- ◆ High-Impact Publications: Selected papers will be published in the conference proceedings and considered for peer-reviewed international journals.
- ◆ Special Sessions & Keynotes: Featuring Dr. Francesca Longo, Vice-Rector of the University of Catania, speaking on 'Doctoral Studies in Europe between National Constraints and Transnational Opportunity.'

Special Invitation for Universities & Scholars in Italy

 We extend a special call to faculty members, researchers, and postgraduate students from universities across Italy to contribute and enhance the international visibility of Italian academic excellence.

Exclusive Discount for Italian Universities & Institutions

If a university or company registers more than 3 participants, a 20% discount will be applied to the registration fees, encouraging greater institutional collaboration and engagement.

- ◆ Showcase Italian research and innovation on a global stage.
